Norfolk, Va., June 23.—Norfolk and Newport News divided the doubleheader this afternoon. The first game went to the visitors by a 3 to 6 score.
The second came the Tars' way after the Builders tied the score in the ninth.
The final result of the afternoon was 5 to 5.

The final result of the afternoon was 6 to 5.

In the opener Buck Barton defeated Cliff Markle because Barton was invincible in the pinches. In the second Barton tried to hold the Tars to a tie in the last half of the ninth, after Pooray had been removed for a pinch hitter. McCabe and Glockson, of the visitors' team, got a home run each in the second game, but the two circuit wallops yielded only two runs, as the bases were empty. Thrasher's triple with the pillows crowded in the third more than offset the two homers.

Hedgpeth's pinch hit tied the score in the ninth, but Stewart's pinch infield single won the game, with only one out in the same half of the inning. The teams will play two games to-morrow afternoon. The scores:

Buck Horn Surprises All by Leading Buskin, the Favorite, to Post.

New York, June 23.—Buck Horn, R. J. Mackenzie's entry, won the Brooklyn handicap at Aqueduct track this afternoon before a crowd of 12.000 persons, and after one of the best finishes that has ever marked this classic. The winner was 9 to 1 in the bettling.

Buskin, the favorite with many of the talent and Rockview, the Belmont entry, kept with the winner from the jump, and the three horses came down the stretch bunched. Three jumps from the finish Buskin was astride in front after taking the outside of the field at the turn. Buck Horn was a half length back and Rockview, after fighting his way to the front in the back stretch, was barely a neck away.

Buskin ran an exceptional race, after being shuffled to the rear at the start and bumped several times thereafter.

COLTS AVERT TRAGEDY For once there was an upset in the preconceived idea of what was almost certain to happen. Manager Ryan, who was catching the ball game himself, managed to inject a little fire into his cohorts, and in the eighth frame a couple of counters were shoved into the cash box, giving us the lead once more. It was maintained to the finish, in striking contrast to previous exhibitions. Pitcher Grimes can thank no one but himself for his victory, though Clarence Berger managed to display some more of the talent that is making him the most sought-after youngster in the minor leagues. He poked one against the right centrefield fence for a triple that was a ringing beauty, but Grimes was the particular indications. BY HITTING IN TALLIES

Almost a catastrophe happened out at the ball yard yesterday afternoon in the second game of the latest series the second game of the latest series with Portsmouth, which was called "Children's Day," in honor of Joe Holland, who is making his managerial debut in the Virginia League. The almost-tragedy occurred in what the regular writers would call, in view of past experiences locally, the crucial period. Conforming to the demand of the copy-reader, and adding the net result, the catastrophe injected itself in the seventh inning of a glorious ball game, and the final score was 3 to 1 in our favor.

Fallowing the established rule the Colts broke away to an early lead, scoring a run in the third section. After that they dawdled along, taking things as they came or went. Fortunately until that stretch period of which we have briefly spoken neither club could do any considerable damage. Both Messrs. McCleary and Grimes were doing yeoman service, and blocking any attempts to puncture their defense.

In the seventh, with everything looking rosy, those unkindly Pirates managed to inject a couple of safe hits, the net result being one run, and a tie of the game. Just along about that time the regulars in attendance, including the youngsters who were admitted free of charge, began to look for a repetition of the usual performance. They were ready to observe the yawning cavern in the Colt defense. yawning cavern in the Colt defense,
